The manager of the great singer, Miss Yaw, asked me how many vibrations my tuning fork had. I told him that it should have two hundred and fifty-three and a half vibrations per second, but I had the misfortune to drop it on an uncarpeted floor and knocked the half vibration off, but I told him I thought I could make allowance for that, and tune the piano so it could be used. He seemed to be satisfied when the job was completed. Now, if you don't think I can put 253 1/2 vibrations on the middle C of your piano, just let me tune it, and if you will count them and honestly say that it is not correct, I will refund your money. Yours for 365 pianos, H. M. Jones, tuner. Phone 526. 4-20-1t
